INSPIRATION

The Antigua collection evolves by expanding its concept of comfort and introducing a complete dining proposal – table and armchairs – alongside a lounge chair that consistently reflects its elegant and distinctive spirit. The dining seating expresses a perfect balance between visual lightness and formal rigor: the aluminium frame, wrapped in the collection's signature woven rope, harmoniously interacts with the table, designed to accommodate up to eight people and become the refined focal point of convivial moments. Available with or without a porcelain stoneware tabletop detail. The lounge chair, compact and welcoming, continues this dialogue between materials and shapes, creating comfort even in more intimate and dimensionally compact spaces where heights are lower. The softness of the seating encourages more relaxed postures, ideal for casual conviviality: short morning breaks, aperitifs, and post-dinner relaxation moments. These extensions enhance the functionality and versatility of the collection, making it ideal for both indoor and outdoor environments, in sophisticated residential settings as well as contract projects. The collection is structured with one-seater sofas that, when paired with the pouf accessory, become elegant and comfortable daybeds for poolside or relaxation areas. Two- and three-seater sofas complete the range, covering a wide variety of furnishing needs. Antigua naturally adapts to any context, transforming relaxation into a gesture of timeless elegance.
